

Abstract

~~Disclosed are compositions and methods for managing databases. Methods and systems~~ for managing biological databases. The methods and systems can comprise creation, organization, and presentation of biological databases. The biological databases can be created using data obtained from a plurality of other databases and periodically updated. An executive summary can be created for a biological sequence using the biological database.